SCHOOL PRODUCTION

Tickets are now available for our school production of DNA by Dennis Kelly and The Dumb Waiter by Harold Pinter. Tickets can be purchased by follow this link www.ticketsource.co.uk/beths-grammar-school

Want to know more about the plays?

The Dumb Waiter is a two-character play set in the basement of an old rooming house, connected to the rooms above by a dumbwaiter and an intercom. Ben and Gus make small talk and wait. It becomes obvious that they are hired killers who are waiting for their victim, whose identity they have not yet been told.

DNA is about a group of teenagers, who could be described as a 'gang' who have accidently killed one of their classmates. When they realise their mistake, they try to cover up the crime but inadvertently implicate an innocent man.

This month's issue includes Turkey-Syria Earthquakes by Subeeshnan 11H, Music Award Ceremonies: The Scammys by Ronnie 10H, Looking after your Mental Health by Thomas 9A and much much more!

There were significant results and some great rugby on display in a fascinating set of second round matches in the Six Nations. The games saw Wales, who suffered a heavy defeat to Ireland in the first match, up against high-flying Scotland after their Calcutta Cup victory against England. World number one Ireland hosted World number two France as the favourites clashed after both sides had won their opening matches. The final match of the weekend saw an improved Italian side travelled to Twickenham following their narrow loss to France, with England hoping to claim a first victory for new coach Steve Borthwick.

Scotland vs Wales

Finn Russell was the star of the show as Scotland were rampant in their 35-7 victory over Wales. The men in red had the better territory and possession in the first half but as against Ireland they simply weren't clinical enough. Whilst Ken Owens was able to score following a Welsh driving maul, they were left to rue a big missed chance as Rio Dyer fumbled a pass mere metres from the line with the clock red for the end of the second half. Scotland came out all guns blazing in the second half, scoring four wonderful tries to add to the 13 points they scored in the first half. I think the pick of the bunch had to have been Kyle Steyn's first, as Finn Russell darted through the Wales defence and made a beautiful offload to Steyn. The victory means Scotland are two wins from two matches for the first time in Six Nations history.

France vs Ireland

This match did not disappoint as the two highest ranked teams in world rugby went head to head in the weekend's main event. It was Ireland who prevailed with a bonus-point victory, putting them in a very strong position early on in this championship. Ireland started quickly, with Hugo Keenan finishing a great Irish move. France struck back not long after, as Damian Penaud started and finished a lightning quick French counter attack. James Lowe then scored a controversial try for Ireland, as he

Turkey-Syria Earthquake

By Subeeshnan 11H

We have just entered the first two months of 2023 and already, there has been a disaster and can even be called the world's worst day of 2023 so far, the Turkey-Syria earthquakes.

The Turkey-Syria earthquake, also known as the Kahramanmaraş earthquake, began on the 6th of February 2023 at around 4:17 am, when people were just about to get up for work.

This earthquake was deemed as one of the top 5 biggest earthquakes in history, with a magnitude of 7.8 on the Richter scale. More than 3600 people died and at around 1:30 pm, as the rescue operations were commencing, a second earthquake occurred. After the second earthquake occurred, many researchers predicted that normally after earthquakes happen, there are aftershocks, and due to the monstrous earthquake, that occurred in Syria and Turkey, the aftershocks are also predicted to be as destructive as the earthquake. Even whilst researching on this natural disaster, I came across videos of people recording themselves under the rubble of buildings, fathers kissing their deceased children under the rubble.

In Syria, this disaster is almost nothing new to the people there, as they have already experienced many incidents of destruction and death due to war. A more surprising and heart-breaking fact is that the area where the earthquake occurred, in Aleppo, was where people had set up refugee camps for those who were escaping.

The strength of the earthquakes can already be seen from foot-

Run On Red - Book Review

By Nathaniel 10A

'Run on Red' by Noelle Ihli is a jam-packed thriller set on an isolated, rural country road. Two friends, Olivia and Laura are heading to a bonfire one winter evening when they notice headlights tailing them through the hills. The truck behind them starts to tap their bumper, then starts trying to run them off the road. What seemed like a classic case of road rage quickly escalates into a heart-pounding chase and a battle for survival. The book starts incredibly fast-paced as the two girls desperately try to figure out what is happening to them. Who are the men in the truck? What do they want? Can they outrun and outsmart them long enough to call for help? As the girls' situation grows more dangerous, they begin to realise that the real terror is yet to come. If they're going to make it home alive, they'll have to fight...

I thoroughly enjoyed reading this thriller and I was kept on my toes the entire time. As previously mentioned, the novel starts with lots of suspense which is maintained for the majority of the book. This was definitely a page turner and a very quick, easy read. The story unfolds very interestingly, and the writing style of the author is quite conversational, which makes reading the story feel like the narrator is personally speaking to you. I also enjoyed the fact that the story included some background on the girls' personalities, which was woven quite nicely into the story. The reasoning behind the whole cat and dog chase is revealed at the end of the story, after a massive amount of vivid description of the girls' attempt at escape and to be honest, the ending was quite lousy for such an intense book. It definitely caught me by surprise, but I felt like it was quite wasteful, as expected. Also, at times the description was a bit too much and made the situation quite confusing to understand. For example, at certain parts of the plot, I felt confused as to

KEEPING YOUR CHILD SAFE ONLINE

At National Online Safety, we believe in empowering parents, carers and trusted adults with the information to hold an informed conversation about online safety with their children, should they feel it is needed. This guide focuses on one of many issues which we believe trusted adults should be aware of. Please visit www.nationalonlinesafety.com for further guides, hints and tips for adults.

10 WAYS GAMING CAN SUPPORT POSITIVE OUTCOMES in Children and Young People

Gaming, of course, is phenomenally popular with children and young people. In 2021, for instance, more than three-quarters of teenagers played online games, with almost 70% of primary school aged children doing likewise. If engaged in moderation and supported by a healthy routine (staying hydrated, good sleep habits, taking breaks and so on), gaming can actually benefit a person's mental health. As long as we stay alert for potential risks, games can be much more than what we see on the surface: they can be a way to socialise, an avenue for creativity and a route to solving problems. Check out our top ten tips on how gaming online can sometimes work to your child's advantage ...

THE FEEL-GOOD FACTOR

Gaming is so popular because at the base level, it's enjoyable for the player. Succeeding in any game or contest releases dopamine in our brains: the 'feel-good' chemical that makes us happy or excited. Those emotions can be incredibly beneficial for mental wellbeing – as long as young players don't become reliant solely on playing video games to make themselves feel happy.

ACHIEVEMENT & PRIDE

A sense of achievement is incredibly important to all of us and can be particularly valuable to someone who's feeling unhappy or distracted. It's easy to get caught up in our thoughts, which can sometimes take a negative turn. So even achieving something small – like finishing a difficult level in a Mario or Sonic game – can feel like conquering Everest and give us renewed optimism.

SOCIAL SALVATION

Gaming can be an incredibly social activity. When playing online with trusted friends, what usually starts out as chats specifically about the game can often develop into conversations about school and life. Even if they've had a bad day, simply knowing that a friend is there, on the other end of their headset, can provide young gamers with a sense of security and some welcome laughs.

TEAMWORK MAKES THE DREAM WORK

In many online games, teamwork is crucial to winning. Often, people who are struggling with their mood tend to feel like they fail or let others down a lot. Working as a team with trusted friends or family in a game can reinforce a young person's self-importance: striving for a common goal and succeeding together can remind them that they're an integral part of something bigger.

REAL-WORLD RELIABILITY

Because many major releases are shooting or action games, when some people fear "gaming" they think of guns, explosions and violence. What's less recognised is how many titles explore reliable issues such as overcoming anxiety or coping with grief. These games allow young players to understand their emotions more deeply and realise they aren't alone in how they might be feeling.

A DIGITAL COMFORT

Video games can provide a reliable constant. No matter what happens in school or between friends, playing a favourite game is something that youngsters can look forward to all day and can help them de-stress. Let's not forget, games are fun – and, when approached safely, an interactive activity in which the player has a degree of control over what happens next can feel immensely reassuring.

PROBLEM-SOLVING PRACTICE

It can be difficult for young people to handle the feeling that nothing is going right or that their problems are insurmountable. Gaming can help alleviate that by presenting challenges to be overcome, either solo or alongside trusted friends. Defeating a powerful monster or solving a tricky puzzle reminds young gamers that even the most daunting obstacles can be faced and conquered.

THE GREAT ESCAPISM

A certain amount of escapism is fabulous – allowing us to temporarily park some stress while exploring a world other than our own. For children, gaming can be like reading a novel or watching a film: a moment in the day when the fantastical becomes real, firing their imagination and immersing them in a story. Who wouldn't want to venture to the stars? Or battle monsters to save the planet?

TRIED & TRUSTED

There can be reassurance in repeating tasks, it often promotes a controlled outcome, which is ideal when life feels overwhelming or out of control. Replicating an experience, such as playing the same level of a game over and over to perfection, gives the player a sense of control and familiarity: it's like listening to a favourite song that always makes you feel happy or confident.

ENCOURAGING CREATIVITY

Inventiveness is a huge part of many modern games: in Minecraft and Roblox, for example, players regularly dream up amazing structures or new ways to play. Using our imagination to create something (whether digitally or physically) is massively beneficial for the brain; that's why Lego is sometimes used in the medical sector as both a stress reliever and a brain injury rehabilitation tool.

PARENTS ASSOCIATION

On Friday, March 3rd, 2023 at 7pm, we will be hosting a fun and enjoyable quiz night to support the fundraising efforts for a school basketball scoreboard. The school has not had a quiz night since 2019, and we are eager to rebuild and bring you all back together and hear about the school, and causes that will benefit your scholars. This is a social evening for parents (and children) to meet. Please come and join, build friendships, understand more about the causes that will benefit your scholars, while having a bit of social fun. Tickets can be purchased on classlist for the event or via this link

<https://app.classlist.com/events/#/events/view/930740814>

At Beths Grammar School, our basketball team is more than just a group of scholars playing a game. They are a family, united by their passion for the sport and a desire to succeed. But there's one problem, their current scoreboard is outdated and in need of replacement.

That's why we're reaching out to the community to ask for support in raising funds for a new basketball scoreboard and the Quiz Night will contribute to this. A new scoreboard will not only benefit our basketball team, but also provide a valuable resource for the entire school community. With a state-of-the-art scoreboard, our basketball teams will be able to compete at a higher level and our school community will have access to a modern and improved facility.

- The event is being organized by the Beths Parents' Association and is one of many events planned to contribute to this fundraising effort.

- Tickets can be purchased on classlist for the event or via this link <https://app.classlist.com/events/#/events/view/930740814> (feel free to share on WhatsApp or social platform you use) and you can find your tickets in the classlist app or we will email them to you.
